Abstract

The objective of the Working Group is to conduct research to find ways to enable adults to easily learn English speech and become fluent in spoken English. Adult learners should know the basics of English grammar, and that means how to write simple English sentences without grammatical errors. The Working Group focuses mainly on how to develop computer software packages to train the learners in English speech. The sole objective of the Interactive Software Packages is to train foreign learners to speak English fluently (correctly, continuously and smoothly). This means, their main focus is to train the learners to apply stress correctly and sufficiently on each English word and phrase.
